Coach Redd steps down

Lack of support blamed for resignation

By Dwayne McClellan

Head football coach Jim Redd handed in his resignation to athletic director Richard Flannagan Monday morning. This resignation will become effective Dec. 31, 1982.

"I didn't feel like I had the complete support of the current athletic director and the university president," Redd said in explaining his resignation. "By support, I mean I felt they didn't have the confidence in me as a coach nor the financial support that I needed to get the job done," he said.

Redd's act ended the rumors that had been circulating the campus and the Maryville area for the past few weeks. Rumors began after the Bearcats were defeated by Central Missouri State in the MIAA opener. Losses to Northeast and Southeast didn't help the cause either, Redd said.

With one game left in the 1982 season, the 'Cats are suffering through a dismal 1-7-1 season. "Personally, the losing record didn't have any influence on my decision," Redd said. "It may have affected the athletic director's and president's support of me and the program. I'm not down on the players, as I would never give up on them. They are fine young players and they will win the close games next year," he said.

Redd has a record of 28-42-2 since assuming the head coaching duties in 1976.

Redd graduated from Northwest as an undergraduate in 1966. While at Northwest, Redd was an all-conference offensive and defensive lineman for the Bearcats from 1963-65. He served as a Bearcat assistant coach from 1967-75 before taking over the head coaching duties in 1976.

"I think we've done a good job here," Redd said. "You've got to have the support of the administration and without it it's just impossible to continue. I do appreciate the support that myself and the program have received," he said.

"Various on-campus organizations supported me," Redd said. Petitions were signed by the student body, the faculty and the booster club. These petitions were sent to the president, Redd said.

The University Athletic Committee gave Redd a 13-0 vote of confidence and sent this recommendation to President Owens Oct. 27, said Dr. Virgil Albertini, a committee member. This letter stated confidence in Redd and his staff and suggested that they should be kept and given the financial background needed to build a highly competitive team. This letter also stated concern over the administration's lack of confidence in Redd and his staff, Albertini said.

With his resignation, Redd has three options for his future, but has indicated that he has made no decision as of yet.

"One option is that I can continue to teach," Redd said. "Another option is to look into another coaching position or go back and work on my doctorate degree."

Two assistant coaches' positions were also terminated due to Redd's resignation. The coaching jobs of Bob Green and Paul Read will be terminated as of Dec. 31, 1982. These men were released because their positions were directly related to that of the head football coach.

"I enjoy coaching and I feel that I have a lot to offer," Redd said. "There is a good nucleus of young players for the next coach and the team will be winners," Redd said.

Voters make good showing in Nodaway County

Turnouts for the 1982 elections were good as 7,471 people voted in Nodaway county. Tuesday, Incumbents kept their positions in the U.S. House and Senate from Missouri, while at the state level one senator was voted out while a representative held his position.

The one state proposition that did pass in Missouri was Proposition C. Proposition C calls for an increase in the Missouri state sales tax by one cent to help fund the public schools.

In the race for U.S. Senator, John Danforth survived what he had called the political fight of his life. In one of the closest races in the nation, the junior senator from Missouri won a close victory over Democratic state senator Harriet Woods. With most of the votes counted, Danforth had only a two percent margin over Woods, 51 to 49 percent.

In the race for the sixth district representative from Missouri, incumbent Tom Coleman easily won over his challenger Jim Russell.

Pat Danner unseated Howard Shay for the 12th district state senate by a margin of more than two to one. Everett Brown retains his seat in the fifth district for the Missouri house, defeating his challenger, Republican Mic Jones.

Most of the issues on the November ballot failed to pass. Proposition B was voted down. This would have raised Missouri's sales tax for gasoline four cents per gallon. Proposition D, which would have approved a consumer utility board, was also voted down, as well as Amendment 10, which would have released the supreme court of Missouri from hearing all appeals to life sentences in criminal cases.

At the county level, the Mazingo bond proposal was also voted down. If it had passed, the proposal called for Nodaway county to raise two and three quarters of a million dollars through bonds for the Mazingo project.

Frat men attend conference

Two members of the Delta Sigma Phi fraternity attended the National Delta Sigma Phi Fall Leadership Conference on Oct. 29 and 30 in Indianapolis, Ind.

The local Epsilon Lambda from Northwest received two certificates of merit. The first honor was for philanthropic activities in recognition of the last pledge class collecting

Students begin registration

Pre-registration for Northwest students began on Oct. 25 and will continue through Nov. 18.

Students started picking up class schedules from the registrar's office, the admissions office and the Union Director's office.

Advisement sheets and card pulling appointment schedules can be picked up from 8:30 a.m. to noon and from 1 to 3:30 p.m. in the registrar's office.

Parking refunds available

Commuters can pick up their parking sticker refunds at the Campus Safety Office between 1-4 p.m. on Nov. 9, 11, 16, 18, 22 and 30, said Student Senate vice-president Roxana Swaney.

"If they can't pick up their refund at the time listed, they should contact the Safety office. Refunds will be given only at the time specified," Swaney said.

For new business, Senate president Linda Borgadalen outlined three goals for the Senate to work on at Northwest, which originated partly from Borgadalen's trip to Washington, D.C., Oct. 16-17, to attend the United States Student Association's Conference.

The first proposal was to try to form a coordinating board made up of Student Senate members to help run the Student Union.

"Students don't have any say in what goes on in the building, like with the moves and remodeling this summer," Borgadalen said.

She added that, while student fees pay for a lot of the building's funding, students don't have a say in the awarding of contracts to the food/service or bookstore operations.

Borgadalen also proposed that the Senate have a referendum this spring to see if student activity fees and Student Union Board fees could be combined.

"There would be a line item fee in the tuition and the money would go directly to the Senate to allocate, instead of going through the administration first," Borgadalen said.

The third suggestion was to try to seat a senator on the Board of Regents either ex-officio or as a voting member, which would take approval by the state legislature.

"Three members are up for election next year, and the other two are new to Northwest and don't know what the students need on campus," Borgadalen said.

"I think it's something that will take a lot of working on," she added.

Coalition to be on campus

The Missouri Collegiate Student Government Association will hold its annual 1982 fall coalition at Northwest Missouri State University Nov. 5-7.

Student government people from Central Missouri State, Missouri Western, Northeast Missouri State, Southeast Missouri State and Southwest Missouri State will be representing their schools at the coalition, said Steve Wester, Northwest student senate sophomore president and coordinator of the event. Wester said about 50 students will be attending the weekend's activities.

Wester said the participating sister schools have a coalition every semester.

"It jumps from school to school every semester," Wester said.

Topics to be discussed at the weekend conferences include parliamentary procedure, goal setting and motivation and leadership.

Alumni exhibit scheduled

An alumni exhibit by 1972 graduate Greg Brantman will be at the gallery in the Fine Arts Building until Nov. 26.

Brantman is currently an instructor of metals and ceramics at Shawnee Mission High School in Kansas.

On display are Brantman's ceramics, drawings and paintings.

The paintings and drawings are done with graphite and oil crayons. They are done in scribble-type strokes, often showing landscapes and sky.

"We bring all of our ideas together here to better understand things we don't know about," Wester said. "We try to better ourselves in our job so we can do better for the students."

The color paintings show a lot of rich blue and other bright colors.

Two even have Iowa road maps worked into the paintings.

Phil Laber the gallery's director said Brantman's works have an "expressive, direct, gutsy quality."

He has had various exhibits in Kansas City, Florida and Iowa.

Brantman will be on campus Nov. 22 during the day.

Parade awards presented

Winning the overall parade titles for the 1982 Homecoming were Greek men, Delta Chi; Greek women, Phi Mu; and independent, Hudson Hall.

Results of the parade were announced at the Homecoming dance, Oct. 30 in Lamkin Gym by Homecoming chairpersons Lisa Neal and Rob Bolin.

In the float competition, the Industrial Arts float "Grease" took first place honors. Sigma Society's "South Pacific" and Perrin Hall with "Chorus Line" tied for second.

Phi Sigma Epsilon's float "Paint your Wagon" and the Delta Chi's "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" tied for first in the Greek men float category. The Phi Sig float had moving horses pulling a covered wagon. Tau Kappa Epsilon's "Chitty Chitty Bang Bang" placed third.

Taking first place for the Greek women floats Phi Mu's "State Fair." The float included a moving ferris wheel rode by sorority members during the parade.

Tri Sig's "Wizard of Oz" took second place followed by Alpha Sigma Alpha's "Jungle Book" and Delta Zeta's "Showboat," who tied for third place honors.

The jalousy division was won by LAGNAF. Their jalousy portrayed "South Pacific." AHEA and Delta Chi tied for second and Alpha Tau Alpha placed third.

Group clowns was won by Hudson Hall for the independents. Sigma Society and IRC tied for second.

Alpha Kappa Lambda's group clowns took top honors for Greek men. Delta Chi placed second and Tau Kappa Epsilon took third.

For the sororities, Alpha Sigma Alpha placed first and second and also tied with Sigma Sigma Sigma for third place.

Individual clown competition was won by Hudson for the independents. Delta Chi took first and third and Phi Sigma Epsilon took second for the fraternities.

In the Greek women, Phi Mu placed first and tied with Tri Sig for third. Sigma's also placed second.

Besides clowns, floats and jalousies, 29 area high school bands also competed during the parade.

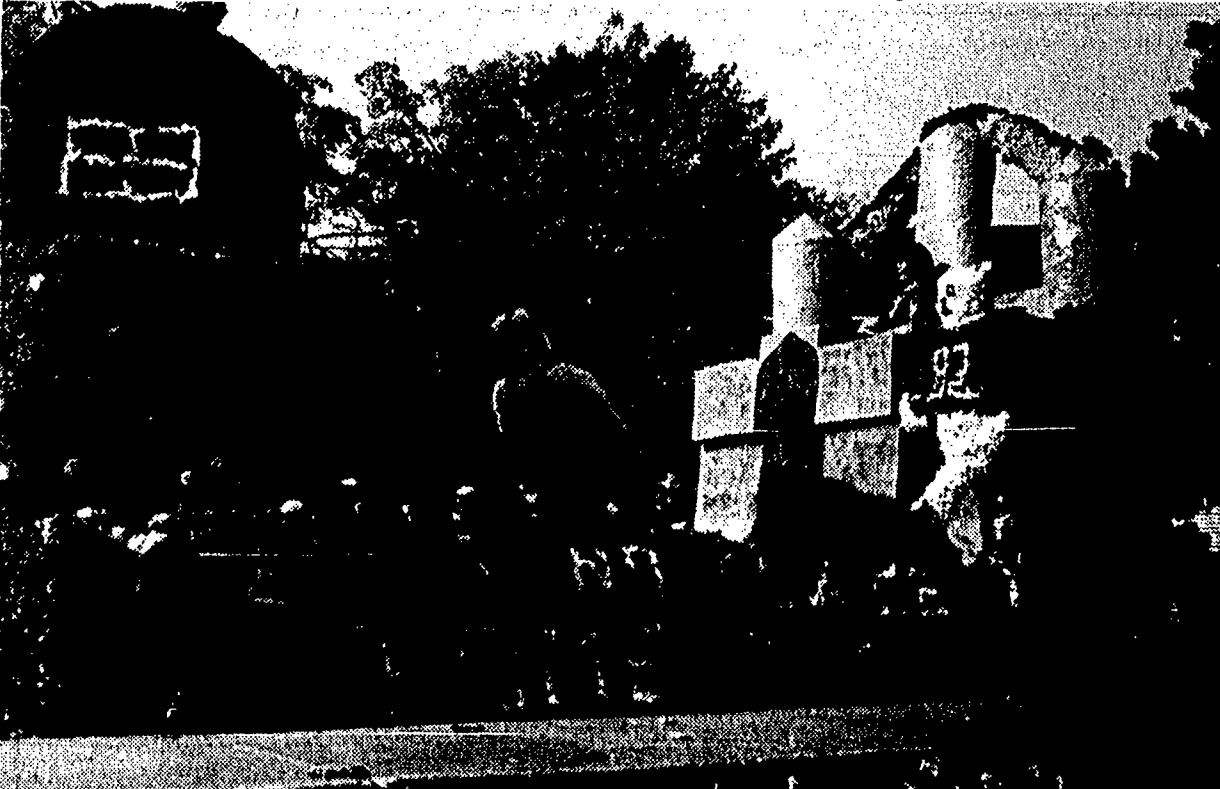

Savannah High School repeated its 1981 performance by claiming the 1982 Grand Champion trophy and Class 4-A title.

Champions in the other classifications were Lenox, Iowa, in Class 1-A; Tarkio, in Class 2-A; and Penney High School of Hamilton, in Class 3-A.

Al Sergel, director of bands at Northwest, was band competition coordinator.

After the parade, trophies were presented in Rickenbrode Stadium to the winners. Trophies were provided by the Maryville Jaycees.

The bands were evaluated on marching ability, musicianship and cornering.

Sociologist published

Richard Monk, program director of sociology, has co-authored a recently published revision of "Baltimore: A Living Renaissance."

Monk's co-authors were Dr. Lenora Nast, a Maryland historian, and Mr. Larry Krause, an editor and publisher.

The book has over thirty contributors, including former students of Monk's, historians and scholars from Goucher College, Johns Hopkins University, Loyola College and the University of Maryland, as well as journal editors and free lance writers.

The book attempts to document and analyze current economic, political and social changes of a rapidly revitalizing urban area.

In addition to writing the general introduction and the introductions to each of the work's four sections, Monk also wrote an article on science and medicine in Baltimore and a profile of an urban planner.

The book is published by Historic Baltimore Society and distributed by the Johns Hopkins University Press.

Monk also read a paper, "Infanticide and Abortion Among Slave Mothers," before the Association for Humanist Sociology's seventh annual conference in Washington, D.C., Oct. 21-25.

The paper attempts to develop a partial theory explaining the high infant mortality rate among enslaved females in the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries. It is currently being revised for publication.

Team travels out of state

The Northwest Missouri State University debate teams traveled to tournaments this past weekend.

The senior team of Eric Steiner and Scott Ahrens traveled to Xavier University in Cincinnati. The team won two and lost six. Their wins were over Air Force and South Dakota. Their losses were to Butler, the University of Miami, the University of Iowa, John Carroll, the University of Louisville and Notre Dame. Individually, Scott Ahrens placed ninth in this category.

"Team-wise, we didn't have a good tournament, but individually Scott Ahrens did well. His ninth place finish put him in the top one-fifth of the people there," said Roy Leeper, debate coach.

The junior team of Jim Clevenger and Ricky Newport traveled to Central Missouri State in Warrensburg for their tournament. They finished with a record of one and five, winning against the third ranked team in the tourney, Washington University in St. Louis.

"Even though the overall record wasn't overpowering, it was something of a feather in our caps to hand the third ranked team their only defeat," said George Hinshaw, who coached the junior team.

"We aren't going out for a couple of weeks. We traveled too much in October. We are trying to regroup. The season isn't going as well as we would like, but about as well as we'd expect with only one returnee and five new people," said Leeper.

"The inexperience is showing," Leeper said.

Letters to the Editor

Construction vandalized

Dear Editor,

It is a shame that just as the University's massive construction program is nearing completion, we must see the effort marred by a group of pestiferous miscreants who extract some sort of pleasure from scrawling their names in wet concrete. Although I am somewhat surprised that these people have raised their syntactical skills to such a level, I do wish they would find an alternative forum for displaying their newfound talents. This is a contemptible act of vandalism and should be treated accordingly. Perhaps these noisome nitwits should cogitate the current price of concrete before embarking on their artistic ventures.

I must also add that campus safety would do well to take notice of this problem. If someone were there to guard the sidewalks, perhaps fewer people would put turf shoe imprints in them.

Agitatedly yours,
Jim Ryan

Sigma Taus criticized

Dear Editor:

We are writing this letter to express our concern over an incident that happened Saturday morning at the Homecoming parade.

We feel that the annual Homecoming parade is a time to show school spirit and pride. We were disappointed and upset by the actions of the Sigma Tau Gamma fraternity.

We were in the parade on foot following the Sig Tau float. During this time, the "gentlemen" inside the float felt it necessary to yell obscene comments to us which could be heard by the crowd throughout the entire parade route. They also dropped several empty alcohol bottles off their float, one which shattered in the middle of the route.

We feel that this behavior was inappropriate and in poor taste. This action not only degrades the Sigma Tau Gamma fraternity, but also reflects upon the University as a whole.

We hope that in the future the Sig Tau's will act with a little more respect and decency when representing the University.

Dear Editor:

To the person(s) who constructed the sign that read Welcome Back, Suitcases at the entrance of campus—we like your style. We salute those who stuck around and put a little weekend into your week, this Bud's for you.

TKEs have money crunch

Dear Editor:

The men of Tau Kappa Epsilon regrettably did not construct a house decoration for the 1982 Homecoming festivities. The main reason is that the prize money offered by the University by no means reimburses our fraternity for the expenses incurred and the time spent.

Also, the community of Maryville does not provide financial or moral support to us in our Homecoming efforts. We hope that in the future there will be more support for all Greeks in their endeavors to provide a better atmosphere for Homecoming.

The fraternity extends thanks to Bill Espey, Maryville Implement, Drake Lumber, and for the use of the Community building at the airport.

Sincerely,
Mark B. Witthar

Homecoming winners

The Delta Chi and Phi Sigma Epsilon fraternities, as well as the Northwest Cheering Squad had a reason to celebrate after they took top honors in the annual Homecoming Variety Show.

Tying for first place in the skit division were the Delta Chi and Phi Sigma Epsilon fraternities.

In keeping with the 1982 Homecoming theme of musicals, the men of Delta Chi presented a take-off on the Broadway hit "Annie" entitled "Arnie".

"I was real happy that everyone spent the time required and worked hard to keep up the four year tradition of a first place skit," said Harold Baker, Delta Chi president.

The cast of "Arnie" was: Jeff Thompson, Arnie; Crain Kelley, Miss Hannigan; J. Britt Davis, Big Daddy Owens; Scott Lane, Rob Goodale, Mike Shepherd and Harold Baker, orphans; and Bill Breeden, Joe Gunther, Mike Routh, Troy Carlson and Mike Stow, administration men.

"Damn Indians" was the title of the other winning skit presented by the Phi Sigma Epsilon men.

The skit parodied the musical "Damn Yankees" and was written and directed by fraternity members Stacy Griggs and Tom Leith, said Chris Hughes, Executive Fraternity Council member.

"We knew the Delta Chi's were the ones to beat, so we just shot for them," Hughes said. "We were all real pleased to win."

Men involved in "Damn Indians" included: Chris Hughes, Coach Redd; Jeff Jobe, Coach Redd's wife; Stacy Griggs, B.D. Owens; Rick Howe, Andy Marty, Kent Peterson, John Distefano, Scott Childress, Kevin Hindmarsh, Roger Rinas, Bruce Winston, Kevin Frenzel and Mark McConky, football players.

The cheering squad began work on their first place oleo act last May, said Vinnie Vaccaro, squad coach.

The routine to "Hot Lunch Jam" from the motion picture "Fame" was originally choreographed for the National Cheerleading Collegiate Championships held last summer, he said.

At that competition, the Northwest squad lost first place honors to a squad from Wichita, Kan., by three points. The cheerleaders are currently entered in another national competition, he explained.

The Northwest cheering squad was chosen by auditions in March. Last spring, over 40 students tried out for 13 open positions on the squad, Vaccaro said.

Those selected were Beth Brown, Bruce Lackey, Toni Prawl, Dan Stevens, Vicki Baker, Paul Haake, Jamie Snooks, Jeff Wangness, Staci Griggs, Sheila Tate, Mike Shepherd, Ronda Hauptman and Todd Bovard who portrays Bobby Bearcat on the squad.

Stand-in John Condiff performs in the Hot Lunch Jam routine for Mike Shepherd who broke his arm during the original preparations for the competition last summer.

"Choreography of the winning variety show act was a mulligan stew of ideas," Vaccaro said. "Everyone had good ideas and we just put them together."

"I'm very proud of this group," he added. "It's unusual to find 13 unique personalities who work so well together."

The winning variety show acts each received a $50 cash prize and a first place plaque.

Catron takes Homecoming honors

By Marcia Matt

Deb Catron considered it a great honor to be nominated for Homecoming Queen and she found it very thrilling to be named a finalist for the title. But, her excitement at being crowned the 1983 queen made the entire event the greatest thing that has ever happened in her life, she said.

Catron was crowned Northwest Missouri State University Homecoming Queen last week during Homecoming festivities on campus. She reigned over the annual celebration last weekend.

Catron was nominated for the title by the Alpha Kappa Lambda fraternity, an organization she describes as being "one of the most spirited groups on campus."

"They really helped me a lot to prepare for the contest," Catron said. "They came up with all of the campaign ideas and that made my chances of winning better," she said.

The campaigning, however, only began after Catron was named a finalist.

"I didn't want to get too enthused at first because I didn't want to be too disappointed if I didn't win," she said.

"I didn't make any special preparations for the judges' interviews (used to select finalists)," she said.

"I just decided that they'd either have to accept me for who I am or not at all," Catron said.

Catron, a 21 year-old senior, is majoring in elementary education and is from St. Joseph.

She will graduate in May and then do her student teaching in the St. Joseph area before beginning her actual career in the elementary teaching field.

"I plan to work for a few years before returning to school to earn a Master's degree in learning disabilities," Catron said.

Catron eventually hopes to work as an administrator or principal at a large public school in the Midwest.

Aside from her studies, Catron has kept busy with many student activities.

She is a student ambassador, member of the Alpha Sigma Alpha sorority, secretary of the Northwest Homecoming committee, former resident assistant, dorm council member and Student Senate representative. She is also involved in the YARC organization, inter-Residents Council, campus charity activities and area Special Olympics work.

"The people here are all friendly and each very unique. I can truly say that I have learned something from every person that I've met here," she said.

"I am really proud of Northwest and am very honored to represent it," she said.

As the Northwest Homecoming Queen, Catron appeared at each performance last week of the Homecoming Variety Show, rode in the parade, attended the alumni luncheon, Homecoming football game, alumni tea, Homecoming dance and AKL party.

Appearances for the Homecoming Queen may also be scheduled periodically during the year, she said.

Bearcats run out of gas Sat.

By Dwayne McClellan

For the first half of last week's homecoming game, it looked like a repeat of last year's disaster when Northeast Missouri State routed the Bearcats, 52-0.

Afterall, Southeast Missouri State only scored 24 points in the initial half, while at the same time, not allowing a single 'Cat to cross the goal line. But things turned around in the second half as Jim Redd must have said something to his troops at halftime. For in the third quarter, the 'Cats came out roaring, cutting the Indians lead to 10, at 24-14. But then, the Bearcats ran out of gas as they ended up dropping their third consecutive homecoming game, 44-21.

With the loss, the 'Cats' record falls to 0-4-1 in the MIAA and 1-7-1 overall. The Indians raised their mark to 2-1 and 4-4-1.

The 'Cats' problems in the first half were illustrated by the fact that the Indian defense limited the 'Cat offense to 52 yards rushing and 32 yards passing. The Indians, on the other side, churned out 163 ground yards and 78 yards in the air.

Southeast, now winners of three straight, started the ball rolling the first time they touched the pigskin.

Andy Meyer punched the ball into the end zone over right tackle from four yards out for the game's first touchdown. Steve Williams added the PAT for a quick 7-0 Indian lead. That run capped a 49-yard, five play drive that saw the Indians picking up chunks of yardage via the play.

The Indians then went on a scoring spree that put them up by 24, going into the locker room.

David Stewart split the Bearcat secondary with a 59-yard pass from Jim Prestwood for the Indians' second touchdown. Again, Williams added the PAT.

A 42-yard Williams' field goal and a three-yard touchdown pass from Prestwood to Undra Lane were the Indians' other tallies before the half.

In the third quarter, the 'Cats found the handle on their bottled up offense and it looked like a game afterwards.

The Bearcats found the scoring punch on their first possession of the second half. Taking over at midfield, the 'Cats used a Dale DeBourge carry and a Bryan Shaw reception to set the stage for DeBourge's heroics. DeBourge took Todd Murphy's hand-off, headed over left guard, saw an opening and headed for six points. The hard-running back was hit at the Indian 30, but bounced around and out-raced Indian defenders to the endzone.

Five minutes later, the 'Cats, thanks to the speed of Bryan Shaw, pulled to within 10.

Shaw took a Southeast punt at his own 24-yard line. Heading upfield, Shaw saw an opening in the line, shot through it and in a flash was heading down the field for a 76-yard touchdown jaunt. Steve Sestak added the PAT and the 'Cats were back in the game with a little over seven minutes left in the third quarter.

Southeast put the game out of reach with two touchdowns. Marvin Johnson added a six-pointer on a two-yard run while Prestwood even got into the act with a seven yard run. Williams added the PAT and for all practical purposes the game was over.

The never-say-die-Bearcats refused to give up as they added a touchdown on a 25-yard pass from Todd Murphy to Tony Fritz. Fritz was aided on the play as Shaw ran a perfect pattern, thus setting up some fancy footwork by Fritz to get into the endzone.

Don Schaefer added the game's final touchdown as he scored on a one-yard run with the PAT failing.

With the loss, Redd thought his team played well, making a few mistakes on the Indian option.

"We made a few mistakes on the option," Redd said. "There was a couple of times that we had two people on the quarterback instead of one on the quarterback and one on the pitch," Redd said.

"I was proud of the way our team came back. We started out kind of slow and came out roaring but just didn't hold them when we had too," Redd said.

Redd had praise for DeBourge, Shaw and Alan McCary.

"DeBourge had a real fine run off the trap play," Redd said. He just out ran his defenders. Bryan's punt was one of the best that I have ever seen and Alan's two receptions really helped us a lot," Redd said.

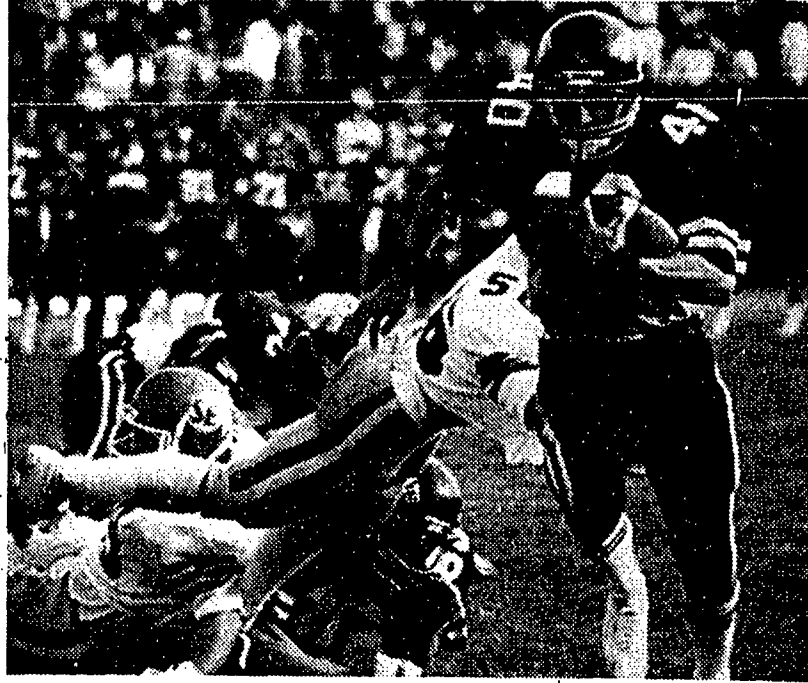

Overall, the 'Cats' rushing attack netted 134 yards while the Indians rushed for 353 yards. Todd Murphy's passing accounted for 190 yards via the air while the Indians countered with 340 yards passing.

Individually, DeBourge led Bearcat rushers with 71 yards on 12 carries. For his efforts, DeBourge was named the Don Black award winner for his performance. Prestwood was the leading Indian rusher with 105 yards on 12 carries.

In the passing department, Todd Murphy was eight for 30, one touchdown, three interceptions and 190 passing yards. Prestwood and Junior Simkins teamed up for 121 yards on 10 for 18 passing.

Freshman Dan Anderson was the leading receiver for Northwest as he caught three passes for 34 yards. David Stewart caught three passes for 73 yards for the Indians.

The Bearcats are off this week as they return to action Nov. 13 in the season finale against Morningside at Rickenbrode. The game will also be the last game for Bearcat coach Jim Redd and four seniors, Todd Murphy, Mark Snively, Ken Johnson and Greg Baker. Redd resigned from head coaching duties effective Dec. 31.

Bearkittens end season

By Pat Lodes

The Northwest Missouri State Bearkitten Cross Country team ended their season Saturday at the MIAA-South Central Regional in Warrensburg.

In the MIAA standings, Northwest took a fourth place finish. The Bearkittens finished sixth in the South Central.

For the seventh time in seven meets, Pam Janssen was the first Northwest runner across the finish line. Janssen finished 10th in the MIAA and 22nd in the South Central. She ran the 5000-meter course in 19:41. Sherry Reynolds was the next Northwest runner in and she placed 12th and 24th in a time of 19:54.

Looking ahead to the 1983 season, Coach Pam Medford can look forward to all of her team returning except senior Lisa Shingledecker. Shingledecker finished third for the Bearkittens. She placed 17th in the MIAA and 29th in the South Central with a time of 20:22.

Other Northwest runners Saturday included Shelly Sheets, who finished 25th in the MIAA and 38th in the South Central. Her time was 21:40. Janelle Yepsen was 27th and 40th with a time of 21:50. Bonnie Craig crossed the finish line in 30th and 43rd in 22:48.

Ryan qualifies for nationals

By Eric Bullock

The Northwest Missouri State University Men's Cross Country team failed to win a trip to the national competition at the conference/Regional meet in Warrensburg. Northwest placed third with 51 points in the meet held Saturday, Oct. 30. The 'Cats were beat out by Southeast, who scored 49 points, for second, and Central Missouri, won conference and regional with 44 points.

The race was lead by Southeast's Mike Vanatta, who gained a tremendous 60 second lead on the rest of the runners, only to collapse before the finish line. Several runners, including Northwest's Jim Ryan and John Yuhn, passed the exhausted Vanatta before he managed to crawl past the finish line.

Jim Ryan became the only Northwest harrier who will travel to the National meet in St. Cloud, Minn.

Nov. 13. Ryan placed fourth in 32:31 for the hilly 10-kilometer course. John Yuhn ran a close 32:38 to take fifth place. Mark Davis placed 11th in 32:59. Brian Murley followed with a time of 33:15, to take 12th place. Brad Ortmeyer ran 33:19 to grab 14th. Clint Walker placed 15th with a time of 33:22 and Tim Henrickson ran 33:58 for 17th.

Only the top two teams at Regional qualify to go to Nationals. Losing a trip to St. Cloud by only two points was a disappointment to the Bearcats. Coach Richard Alsop said, however, that the team had done their best.

"I was happy with the effort but disappointed with the finish," Alsop said. "We just didn't have it. No one on the team ran poorly."

With the top three teams all finishing within seven points and the fourth place team being 35 points out of the picture, the meet did look like a triangular. Ryan feels this is one of the things wrong with the NCAA regional system. Out of nine teams that competed, only two teams and two individuals go to nationals. Many teams who feel they won't qualify don't bother to show up.

Ryan's goals for the nationals are high. Having made All-American in the Steeplechase last spring, he hopes to repeat the award.

Alsop is optimistic that Ryan will be able to accomplish his goal.

"He'll do well," Alsop said. "He wants it real bad and that's the key (to success). He has the confidence and the desire is there."

'We like to play what we like to play'

Jeff King and Lee Nigh like to make music. They have played together at bars, contests, weddings and funerals.

"Bluegrass was our main interest originally," said King. "When we get together, we like to do real traditional songs - not the mainline standards like 'Foggy Mountain Breakdown,' but things like 'Tennessee Blues' or 'Kentucky Mandolin.' We're also real interested in 'Dawg' music."

Dawg music was pioneered by David Grisman. It is a fusion of bluegrass, classical and jazz.

Jeff and Lee are not novices by any means. Lee plays fiddle professionally for John Marriott and Southwind, which performs in this area as well as throughout the Midwest. Jeff, who is a first year student at Northwest, used to play for The Round Oak String Band in Maine and California. Prior to King's joining, The Round Oak String Band performed in the movie, "The Howling."

These musicians are versatile as both of them play guitar, banjo and mandolin. Jeff also plays string bass.

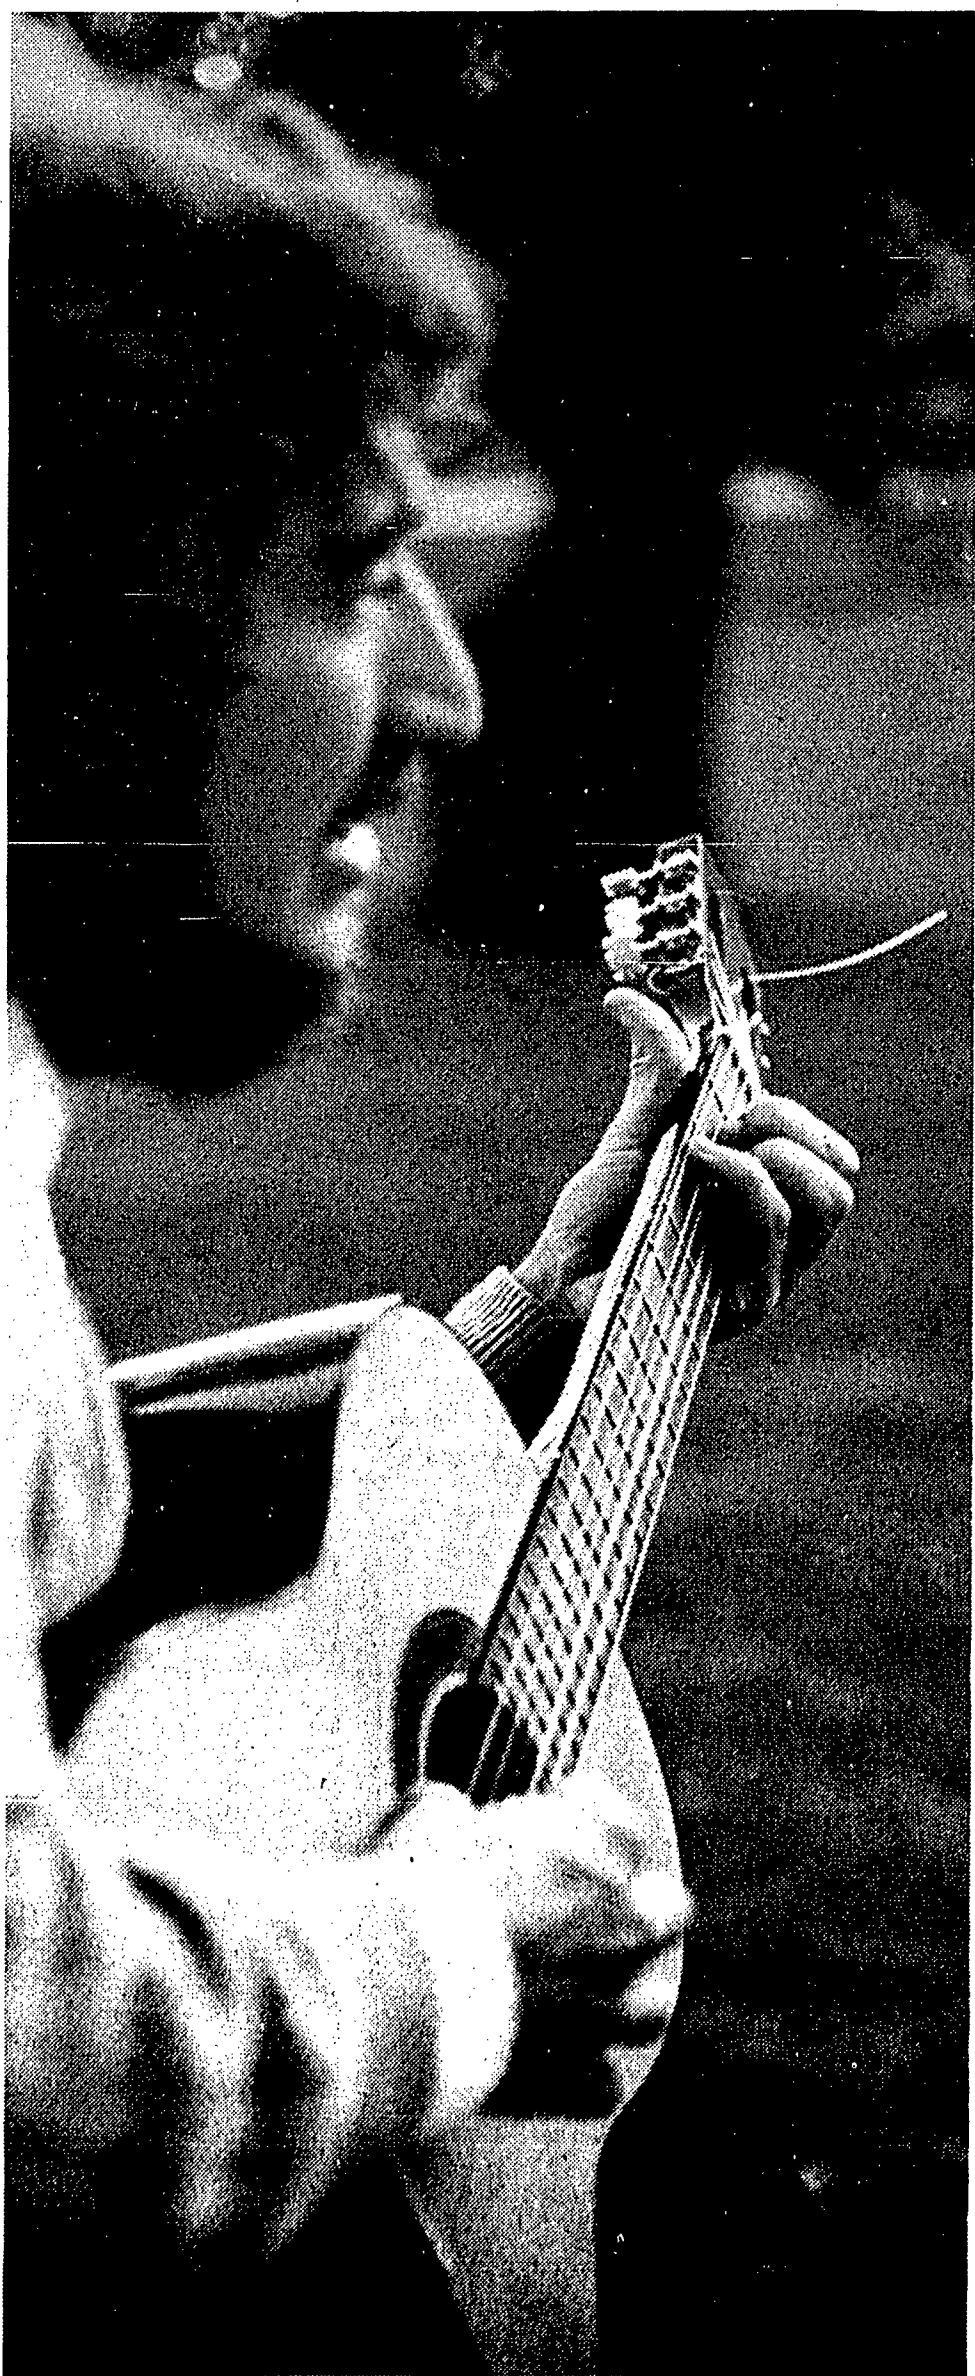

"Playing with Lee is great," King said. "It's not just that we're good friends. We've played together for a long time and we have the same interests in music. What makes it so easy to play together is that we know what each other will do - or rather we can anticipate what each other will do."

Bottom right: The pleasure to the ears is the product of hard work by calloused fingers.
